

Holy War Would Remake Germany

stantinople. It was the Greeks who entered the Treaty in Thrace and who entered upon an extensive campaign in Asia Minor to assure themselves the possession of the Smyrna zone given to them by the Treaty of Sèvres.

France and Italy made treaties with the Nationalists at Angora, and furnished them with the military means to combat the Greeks. Great Britain cried out against this policy, but backed the Greeks only half-heartedly because a strong section of public opinion in England sympathized also with the Turks.

The Greeks maintained themselves in Asia Minor for more than three years. Then they became discouraged at having a fight not only the Turks but also the French and Italians, and they realized the Occidentals did not—tho' Soviet Russia was also backing Angora. The losing game ended in demoralizing them.

France and Italy made treaties with the Nationalists at Angora, and furnished them with the military means to combat the Greeks. Great Britain cried out against this policy, but backed the Greeks only half-heartedly because a strong section of public opinion in England sympathized also with the Turks.

For the French the ruin of Greek hopes meant the checking of a geographical scheme of Mr. Lloyd George to make England supreme in the Near East by using the Greeks as dummy holders of Constantinople and the resources of Western Asia Minor. Another strong influence at work in France against Greece and the Treaty of Sèvres was that of General Lyautey, military governor of Morocco, who went personally to Paris to urge that the war to pacify Morocco and to retain French sovereignty was for the French government to back Mustafa Kemal Pasha. For was not Mustafa Kemal, in the eyes of the Mohammedan world, defending the Khalif of the Faithful (the Turkish sultan) against Greek aggression?

This argument was used by the Turkish supporters in England, who declared that enforcement of the Treaty of Sèvres was madness for England—the greatest Mohammedan power in the world.

Weight was added to this argument by the publication of a letter from the British viceroy, stating that the Greeks were making the problem of pacifying India virtually impossible. The 70 million Mohammedans of India stood solidly behind the Turkish Nationalists.

There is only one form of prestige that counts with the Mohammedans, the prestige of force. If they get the idea into their heads that they can do without the Turks, they will do it.

This is seen at the present moment. Owing to French and Italian intrigues at Angora, Mustafa Kemal has been driven to the east. The entente powers can pull on the reins all they want to. It is too late. They are dealing with a runaway horse.

He will, of course, sooner or later come to the end of his strength and go to smash. But may he not bring to grief with him those who are trying now to pull him in?

If the events of the first fortnight of September in Asia Minor had only to do with the discomfiture of the Greeks we might look upon them with a different eye. Armies have been thrashed before. The Turks have long been massacring Christians, and yet the world has wagged on.

But I write from personal experience having just come from Asia Minor and Constantinople, when I say that the Agorians Nationalists represent something far different from a group of patriots valiantly fighting the misfortunes of their country.

Behind Mustafa Kemal Pasha stands the Islamic world, 300,000,000 strong, stretching across southern and central Asia and northern and central Africa. Behind the Islamic world stands the vast Russian Empire. Behind Soviet Russia, if they choose to do so, stand Germany and Japan.

On the folly of France! Oh! the folly of Italy! Oh! the folly of England! When I must say it—oh! the folly of America!

We are all in the same boat, and the waves are beginning to rock us hard.

In regard to Germany and Japan, I put in a qualifying clause. The victory of the empires is of tremendous value to Japan, marking as it does the defeat of a European and Christian people at the hands of an Asiatic and non-Christian people. Its repercussion in furthering the propaganda of "Asia for the Asiatics," which Japan is sponsoring, is incalculable.

Germany Again a Factor

It is of tremendous value to Germany, marking as it does the utter confusion of the European enemies of Germany.

Germany took her greatest step forward towards re-entry into world affairs when M. Franklin Bouillon signed on behalf of France a treaty with the Angora Turks, promising to aid them in getting the Greeks out of Asia Minor and Thrace. She actually did qualify for re-entry into world affairs when Italy signed a similar treaty with the Turks.

There is no truer motto in the world than "A house divided against itself cannot stand." How can the entente survive?

The Kaiser is cackling at Doorn Hindenburg and Ludendorff threw their hats in the air when they heard of the recapture of Smyrna, and the ruler of England by the Turks at Smyrna, and right beside it the news that France had withdrawn her troops from the Asiatic side of the Bosphorus. For is not the Diliad (Holy War) at last coming to fall like a ton of bricks upon the enemies of Germany?

All this does not prove that Japan and Germany are actually helping the Turks, materially or diplomatically. Quite otherwise, however, as the relation between the two and Soviet Russia is squarely and openly backing Mustafa Kemal and rejoicing in the gullelessness of French and Italian statesmen, especially of the former.

Help Russian Soviet

All that the Nationalist Turks have been able to accomplish during the past two weeks is of supreme and immediate importance to Bolshevism.

Soviet Russia has placed herself on the side of Nationalist Turkey, demanding that the entente powers evacuate Constantinople. The return of the Turks to Constantinople is not an eventuality that has any other significance to the new countries of the "little entente" than its true meaning.

Mustafa Kemal in the saddle at Constantinople would give the signal for the denunciation by Bulgaria of the Treaty of Neuilly and the launching of an offensive by the Bolsheviks against Rumania and Poland. In Balkans, we know now from bitter experience in Europe—and America—go into that Europe's swampy bog get into trouble, too.

Putting the entente powers out of Constantinople is only one part of the program of Soviet Russia. It is no more than the soup, one might say, in the meal Lenin proposes to force down the throats of those who have been damning him, and whose folly in the Near East has now given them the opportunity to get even with them.

Ever since the Soviet regime came into power in Russia, the menace of Islam has been a precious weapon to be used against the "capitalist countries."

Inheriting the machinery and the opportunities of Czarist Russia to make trouble for Great Britain, Lenin and his associates began nearly five years ago to use Mohammedan fanaticism to destroy the British Empire, and to pry loose from France her North African possessions.

Northwestern India, the khanates of Central Asia, Afghanistan, Persia, Turkey, Mesopotamia, Syria, Palestine, Arabia, Egypt, the Sudan, Tripoli, Tunisia, Algeria, Morocco, the tribes of the Sahara, and rapidly increasing converted areas in Central and Western Africa—these are the countries, under British, French and Italian rule or protection or mandate, which the victory of Mustafa Kemal and the restoration of Constantinople to the Turks will electrify, and galvanize into action.

The Fatal "If"

If the entente powers were still united, if the United States were in the entente combination, if Japan were not interested on the other side (even passively), if Soviet Russia were out of the game, if the entente powers were not weary of colonial wars and heavy expenditures on taxpayers for adventures far afield, the Mohammedan world could do nothing and would do nothing as a result of the Turkish victory.

Ah! but those fatal "ifs"—they all hold. So may we not expect to see a chain of calamities following the collapse of the Greek lines in Asia Minor, compared to which the burning of rich and beautiful Smyrna is as nothing?

Why should the prospect of a new war—Islam against her whilom masters—interest us in the United States? We say to ourselves that we are out of it. But are we? Think of what the success of Islam, backed by Bolshevism, will mean tomorrow in our relations with Japan. When Asia has expelled the European powers, Japan will speak to us with a voice different from that used at Washington last winter.

Race No Factor

And if you are secretly sympathizing with the Turks, just think of this fact:

To the Mohammedan all Christians look alike. There is no distinction between Englishman, Frenchman, Italian, American, Greek, or German. We are all held equally responsible for the wrongs, fancied or real, of Islam. And if there is an opportunity—no matter what they may be the combination Mustafa Kemal and his associates can form—the Vengeance will fall impartially upon European and American.

From Tokyo to Constantinople and Cairo our civilization is detested, and our ideals questioned or sneered at. Let us beware of the Holy War.

FOR BABY'S INDIGESTION

To rear a perfectly normal, healthy baby, look to its stomach, for right there is where baby's troubles start, beginning with indigestion that results in colic, diarrhoea, sour stomach, gas and other more serious stomach and bowel troubles. The minute baby begins to fret, he should have immediate attention, for this is his way of telling you that he has indigestion.

Indigestion, due to fermented food in the stomach, throws toxic poisons into the little system and sets up irritation and inflammation in the stomach and intestinal tract. This fermentation can be immediately checked with Anti-Ferment, bringing prompt relief to the baby and rest for the mother. Your doctor will approve the use of Anti-Ferment. It is perfect, harmless, pleasant in taste and yet effective. Any druggist can supply it. Specify "Anti-Ferment for Baby."—adv.

STROKE FROM CLUB

RACINE, Wis., Sept. 21.—A golf stick swung back by a devotee of the game demonstrating to several young women on the lawn of a residence last night resulted in the death of Miss Evelyn Calahan, a school teacher. She stepped up behind Allan Simpson, assistant district attorney, while he was showing a driver stroke and was struck behind the ear with the head of the club.

Ford Industrial Strike Came To End Last Night

DETROIT, Sept. 21.—Henry Ford's "Industrial strike" came to an end tonight.

At midnight his great automobile plants in the Detroit district employing upwards of 70,000 men, and which closed for an indefinite period last Saturday as the manufacturer's protest against what he termed "excessive coal prices," again were the scene of industrial activity. The order for the re-opening of the plants came this forenoon from Edsel Ford, son of the manufacturer and president of the Ford Motor Company, who made arrangements to obtain coal during a conference in Cincinnati yesterday with 50 mine operators. The re-opening order was approved by Henry Ford and official announcement given to the thousands of Ford workers throughout the country.

Edsel Ford, in his telegram, said the interstate commerce commission's latest order permitting the flow of fuel to automobile plants, previously put in the non-essential class, made it possible to obtain a sufficient supply of the class of coal required to operate the Ford enterprises. Executive offices of the concern, since the shutdown have been the scene of almost feverish activity in the effort to solve the company's coal problems. The setting in motion of machinery for the re-opening within a few minutes after the president's message was received. It was announced the late night shift of workers should report at midnight, and the succeeding shifts should resume the usual routine tomorrow. The re-opening order not only puts back on the payrolls the more than 70,000 Ford workers in Detroit and the 20,000 others in assembling plants throughout the country, but also means re-opening of scores of small machine shops and accessory concerns, chiefly in Detroit district that were obliged to close last week because the Ford Company is their sole consumer. These smaller concerns employ upwards of 120,000 men. Ford employees who let it be known last Saturday that they desired a protracted shut down, received the news of the re-opening plans with undisguised relief. The same feeling of relief was evidenced in all of the Detroit business and industrial world. The Ford close put nearly half the district's workmen out of jobs. Details of the arrangements by which Mr. Ford is to obtain sufficient coal to run his factories at what he terms "an honest price" were lacking tonight, due to the absence of both Edsel and Henry Ford.

HEADS OF CRAFTS SEEK TO SETTLE STRIKE ON C. & O.

RICHMOND, Sept. 21.—Heads of the various departments of the shops of the Chesapeake and Ohio are here today from Huntington and are in conference regarding the adjustment of the strike. The men have been here according to reports for two days, though strenuous efforts were made to keep the whole affair secret and when a report was printed regarding the negotiations there was a move to disprove the "leak." Some of the railroad officials would likewise the presence of the men here to know anything of the meeting. These sessions were held in room 77 of Gilbert's Hotel, behind closed doors and all hands were tight-mouthed regarding the situation. There is belief now that the Chesapeake and Ohio men will be back in the shops by the beginning of the next week. An order has been placed with the American Locomotive Company by the Chesapeake and Ohio for fifty heavy engines, the work to be completed by the Schenectady branch, none of it coming here. The estimated cost of the engines is placed at $2,000,000.

KENTUCKY SOCIETY PROTESTS ACTION

RICHMOND, Va., Sept. 21.—A protest against cancellation of the Virginia Polytechnic Centre football game scheduled here October 14, has been forwarded to the Centre authorities by the Kentucky Society here. It was announced tonight by representatives of the organization which includes in its membership more than 40 former Kentuckians. A telegram received here tonight from C. E. Allan, a member of the society of the Kentucky Institutions and final decision as to the game could be taken Saturday. The contract for the contest was signed last November and extensive plans already have been made for the event.

They had reached the trolley station and as Sally held out her hand, half in farewell and half to take her bag, it seemed to Harry a most unpleasant certainty that he would never see her again. He grasped the hand and blurted:

"Oh, but I want to come to see you — do write me — I just must see you, Sally."

The girl continued smiling, but with an effort now. The parting gave her a pang she dared not show. Not even after the car had moved off with her did the stiff, brave little grin leave her face.

"Now," she breathed, as though bracing herself for a tremendous effort of spirit. Then the very absence of any next immediate step to take seemed to draw the pluck from her. "Now—what?"

It takes more courage to face an empty void than to climb a hard hill. Sally was as alone in the world as a little cloud.

Her home was in her imitation-leather handbag. Her only bread-earning power was in somebody's kitchen. Would she return to that?

"Never!" she gasped aloud almost into the ear of the conductor coming round for fares.

Descending from the trolley at the junction town of Branchville, her money was not sufficient to take her on to Chicago. So perforce she stopped at Branchville.

Lugging her bag, she footed it to the discouraged little hotel, brushed her hair before the cracked mirror, washed her face and hands and went forth to search for the ladder that should take her to the heights of career and life.

"ANY EXPERIENCE?" ASKED THE STOREKEEPER.

A few blocks' trudging brought her to the town's largest ice cream parlor and dairy lunch. Sally looked into the window listily—then less so, as she saw a sign:

"SODA FOUNTAIN HELPER WANTED."

Sally stood there thinking hard, as she glanced in at the chocolate creams and red-and-yellow gum-drops. Washing soiled glasses and dishes—she knew that was the largest part of the work at first.

Was that a promotion from the kitchen? Or would it be going back on her resolve? Sally Dawson had never heard of the ancient and noble Roman whose enemies appointed him cleaner of streets.

"If the office won't bring me honor, I shall confer honor on the office," he said—and did it. Sally went in.

"Any experience?" asked the storekeeper.

"I've got better than experience," said Sally. "I've got sense. Let's try it out."

Jealousy Is Clew In Slaying

By Michael Fiaschetti

A YOUNG, good-looking Italian woman was found dead in bed—Shot through the heart.

Beside her lay her nine-year-old daughter and unmarried sister—alive and uninjured.

The girl said that she had been awakened suddenly by the shot of a revolver. Two men were hastily leaving the room.

The child was too frightened to talk.

The three had been living together in the little East

Angelina Conti, the murdered woman, and her daughter had come over from

FIASCHETTI Italy six months before.

They came to live with Maria Tucci. Mrs. Conti's sister, who had biased the way to this country several years back.

For a time we were stumped. Why should two men break into the room of these poor women and shoot one? Robbery could not possibly have been the motive.

Event? Perhaps.

After considerable questioning we found that Maria had been keeping company with a young Italian. He had been very devoted to her—

Until her sister came.

Maria was short, thin and weighed less than a hundred pounds. Mrs. Conti was healthier, plumper, better looking.

The young man shifted his attentions.

The younger sister sensed this change of affection immediately. She tried to stop the affair. She quarreled with her sister. She threatened her.

But Mrs. Conti just smiled and said that she wasn't doing anything.

The young man laughed.

The girl's jealousy increased.

One day she told her lover that she was afraid of Mrs. Conti. She wanted a gun for protection. He gave it to her.

She hid it in the cellar.

When Mrs. Conti continued to receive his attentions, the sister could stand it no longer.

ANTILOPE MAY SOON BE EXTINCT

YELLOWSTONE PARK, Wyo., Sept. 21.—Two American antelope are threatened with extinction, according to officials here of the department of the interior. Unless extensive protective measures are taken, officials declared, and animals widely admitted to be colorful, delicate and motions of a deer-like movements, soon will be seen only in museums.

There are probably not more than 2,000 antelope remaining in the United States, according to a statement and the total number in the park is about 350. In 1908 the number was 2,000.

The cause of the antelope has been taken up by the American Bison Society of New York. A number of societies interested in game preservation will meet jointly in the east soon to consider a program to protect antelope. Proposed measures include provision for an adequate winter range for Yellowstone herds, and for herds remaining in Oregon, Nevada, Idaho, Wyoming, Utah and California.

Last winter nearly a third of the Yellowstone Park herds were lost as a result of heavy snows and the depredations of coyotes, wolves and mountain lions. A part of this loss was made up by birth of the young this spring.

The most serious menace to their preservation here is the absence of a winter range, according to these officials. Besides running the risk of starvation, owing to scant forage if the snows are deep, they are prey for predatory animals.

The possible winter range for antelope here at present is about 2,000 acres, which must be shared with the deer, elk and other grazing animals. The summer range covers about 100,000 acres.

Park authorities will withdraw part of the summer range from tourist use next season as the presence of tourists is said to keep the nervous animals on the qui vive and to interfere with breeding.

Justice Clarke Denies He Will Be a Candidate

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Sept. 21.—(By The Associated Press.)—Reports that former Justice John H. Clarke of the United States Supreme Court, had resigned from the bench in order to seek the Democratic nomination for president in 1924 on a League of Nations platform, were denied by Justice Clarke in a statement issued here today.

Although he hopes to "go in the search for the man or group of men and women competent for leadership of the League cause, and proposes to devote much of his leisure to working for the League, he had no intention of becoming a candidate for any office, he declared.

To the law, or "said Justice Clarke, "there is no higher honor than that which I have had and when I resign I did not intend to become, and shall not under any circumstances become a candidate for any office, public or private. There are now and likely to be in the future, more than enough candidates for every office, but I think there are not enough men, or women either, maintaining a position of independence such as they can tell the truth to the country unbiassed by personal or partisan interest. Such a position of independence I hope to maintain."

Careful study of the proposed League of Nations, long before the Treaty of Versailles was concluded, Justice Clarke said, left him with the profound conviction that unless some league were formed, other wars would soon follow, with results disastrous to America and to mankind.

"What has happened since," he continued, "so confirms me in that conviction that I think it not an overstatement to say that unless such a league shall, at an early date, and some means of making an end of it, war will make an end of our civilization."

"It is a surface judgment which regards the result of the election in 1920 as final against our government joining the League of Nations. I refuse to accept it as such. Justice Clarke added his efforts in behalf of the League may fail utterly."

But," he continued, "I am sure I will die more happily if I have done what I could to save my country by promoting this great cause than if I had worked out what was to come of life's ending and ending cases more than half of which would be so without interest except to the parties to them and their lawyers that they should never have been permitted to reach a court, primarily on a matter to deal with matters of the greatest public concern."

WALKS FOR TWO MILES IN SLEEP

LONDON, Sept. 21.—An extraordinary case of sleep-walking is reported from Fleet, Lancashire. A Norfolk man was walking through the country, and arriving at Hoi beach close upon midnight, was unable to find lodging. His bicycle was left against a gate. He by accident was found by the roadside and taken to a house. On awakening he could not find his machine. He crossed the village constable and learned that he had walked on Fleet, two miles away in his sleep. The bicycle was later found where he had left it at Hoi beach.

How Incomes Run Big States

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—Illinois with $4,962,000,000 as the annual aggregate income of its citizens leads the compilations which have been announced at the headquarters of the National Bureau of Economic Research, New York. Illinois receives seven and one-half per cent of the nation's income, a figure which is exceeded only by New York and Pennsylvania.

Pennsylvania ranks second with $5,953,000,000, while New York tops the list with a little more than $9,000,000,000. This data is taken from advance sheets of a report entitled "Distribution of Income by States," which will be issued by the National Bureau of Economic Research this month. This study, which was prepared by Oswald V. Knebel, supplements an exhaustive investigation of "Income in the United States" upon which the Research Staff of the Bureau, under Dr. Wesley C. Mitchell, has been engaged for more than a year.

The East-North Central States, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin, according to the report "Distribution of Income by States," had in 1919 a total income of nearly $15,000,000,000 which was 22 per cent of the income of the entire country. At the same time their population was exactly one-fifth of the total. As a group, therefore, their average per capita income was $2,720, though somewhat higher than that of the whole, the $2,675 average in the Eastern States, and the figure of $2,796 enjoyed by the Pacific States.

The Middle Atlantic States, New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania taken as a group have over one-fourth of the national income and with the East-North Central group and the New England States have more than one-half of the total.

The balance of income between that which is due to agriculture and to other sources is almost exactly the same in the East-North Central States as for the entire country, about one-third. This means that as a group these states are practically self-supporting. In contrast, the Eastern States get only one-third of their income from agriculture and must therefore depend upon food supplies brought from the West. The Western States, and most of the Southern States, get about one-third of their income from agriculture, and must therefore send food extensively in exchange for manufactured products.

Detailed figures for the East-North Central States show that while the aggregate income of Illinois was about $4,962,000,000, or seven and one-half per cent of the nation's income, Ohio came next with $3,967,000,000, then Michigan with $2,909,000,000 and Indiana and Wisconsin with less than $2,000,000,000.

The average income of the gainful workers in the states varies as follows:

Ohio ..... $1,725
Indiana ..... 1,523
Illinois ..... 1,589
Michigan ..... 1,752
Wisconsin ..... 1,573

The average income of farmers in these states was:

Indiana ..... $,819
Illinois ..... 1,834
Michigan ..... 2,657
Ohio ..... 1,532
Wisconsin ..... 1,563

Michigan was accordingly the only state to include a return on property in its income. The income of farmers, as well as labor, was less than the average income of the gainfully employed.

The highest average income of farmers is found in California with $3,485, and the lowest in certain Southern and New England states, where it was less than $1,000.

These facts are shown in detail in the report on "Distribution of Income by States," which is especially designed to meet the needs of many investigators who are concerned with the comparative capacity of the various states to bear increased taxes, to buy bonds of various kinds, to absorb securities, etc. It also undertakes to analyze the relative importance of agriculture in the different sections of the country.

Income as defined in this report is the money value of the goods and services produced during the year. The sources on which the estimates are based are the income tax reports, census reports, wages data, reports of the department of agriculture and statements of corporations.

Herbert Murphy Buys Danville Baseball Club

"Herb" Murphy, or to give his full name, Herbert Courtland Murphy will manage the Danville Baseball Club next year. The deal which made Danville's 1931 pilot the owner of the local franchise was consummated last night at a hotel, when title to the club and player contracts were turned over to Murphy.

The deal has been pending for some time and was only delayed because Murphy wanted to make sure that he would be able to secure a lease on Sionewall Jackson Park next year. He was given assurance yesterday that there would be no trouble about securing the lease and completion of the sale was made.

The franchise of the local club includes the contracts of the following players: Abbott, Holmes, Harrie, Carver, Worth, Simson, Baker, Shannan, Regan, Trotter and Schitz. All uniforms and equipment also go with the franchise.

During the past two years the Danville Baseball club has had its ups and downs, but despite all the misfortunes that have befallen it, finished strong this year under the ownership of Davis and Collier. The prospects for a successful season next year are bright. Murphy is popular here, he is a close student of the game and he is an aggressive manager.

He said last night that he expected to get to work immediately to get together a winning aggregation. It will be necessary for him to secure a number of new players in addition to those he already has under contract. Next year he will not have Johnson, Green and Twombly. Rodgers, who was traded for Johnson, is the property of Durham as is Johnson. It appears that Johnson's services, for the time he played with Danville, were traded for Rodgers, who became the outright property of Durham.

Murphy left early this morning for his home in Thomasville, Ga. He stated last night that it would take him some time to straighten out his affairs, but that he expected to return to Danville with his family about the first of the year and would make his home here.

Fans in Danville will be glad to hear this, and it will mean that the franchise has not passed into the hands of an owner who lives in some other city.

No other person is connected with Murphy in the buying of the club.

The Danville club started off the 1932 season with Peyton R. Hatcher owner. Mr. Hatcher sold the club about August 1 to J. M. Davis and W. T. Collier. The new management made a success of their venture. With a cellar team they so aroused public interest that good crowds attended the games and toward the end of the season Danville, despite holding down sixth position, was drawing the largest crowds of that day the locals, by defeating Raleigh, climbed out of the cellar.

Murphy's baseball career is briefly sketched as follows:

He began playing professional ball in Greenwood, Miss., in 1912. The next year he went to Thomasville, Ga., where he married. He was then sold to the Philadelphia Nationals and that club traded him to the St. Louis Cardinals. He remained on the coast five years. In 1920 he was bought by Charlotte, of the South Atlantic League and in 1921 he came to Danville as manager. He again played with Charlotte in 1922.

Bank of England rate unchanged at 3 per cent.

Waterways Carry Their Full Quota Of Freight

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—Whether the waterways are delivering the freight load, or whether they are carrying the quota of the country is a matter of opinion. The waterways are carrying the quota of the country, they will continue to do so long as the waterways are open to the world.

Industrial leaders were being brought to bear to secure opening of the upper Mississippi barge line to permit simultaneous coal and grain movements. ## HIGH POINT GETS EDGE ON SERIES BY WINNING GAME YESTERDAY FROM DURHAM

DURHAM, N. C., September 21.—High Point gained a commanding advantage in the Piedmont League post season series this p. m., by defeating Durham 4 to 0.

Lee Bolt, High Point's speed ball artist, delivered for Manager Herndon in great relief. He was effective in eight of the nine innings and in the eighth, the only bad inning from a pitching standpoint, was enabled to score a shutout through brilliant fielding on the part of his teammates.

The Bulls put up a good game, their play would have won any ordinary contest. Bolt, however, had decided to pitch an extraordinary game, and the best efforts on the part of Manager Lee Gooch and his slugging outfit failed to deter him.

The eighth inning rally furnished the greatest thrill of the game. It was in this inning that Danelli, first up, got a hit by second base. Skipper Gooch drew free transportation to first, sending Danelli to second. Walter Dayton slammed a neat single to right field. Danelli going full speed, attempted to score from second base. Smith's throw to the plate was perfect and Catcher Powell had Danelli out by several feet. In trying to get past Powell, Danelli struck the visiting catcher in the face with his shoulder. Seemingly there was nothing intentional about the collision, but the accident held up the game for a few minutes. Powell having to rub his forehead. On the next play Bolt emerged from the hole which seemed destined to rob him of a shutout victory. Donaldson grounded to Wacha. The visiting third sacker scooped up the ball, threw it to second to retire Dayton, and Overton dispatched the pellet to first, getting rid of Donaldson. It was a snappy double play and secured the last chance the Bulls had to take the contest.

Today's victory gives High Point a decided advantage in the series. Four games have been played, one resulting in a 5-5 tie. Of the remaining three, High Point has won two and Durham one.

The teams left tonight for High Point, where they will resume the post season battle. It is almost a sure bet that Manager Herndon will call upon Eldridge, his pitching ace for tomorrow's game. Rodgers, is slated to get the call from Manager Gooch.

High Point's first two runs this afternoon were scored in the fourth inning. With one out Thrasher walked. Overton doubled to right field and Thrasher went to third. Schmidt singled to center and Thrasher scored. Powell hit to Magrann who threw over to center at the plate. With Schmidt on third and Powell on first a double steal was carried off. It worked due to Carey's hesitancy in making a return throw to Dayton. Schmidt scored. Bolt grounded out third to first.

In the sixth inning with one out,

Thrasher drove a long fly to right field, which Manager Gooch dropped. Overton followed with a single to left. Thrasher went to third. Schmidt flew out to Danelli and Thrasher scored from third. Powell came through with single to center. Overton scored. Bolt fanned out.

During the remaining three innings McWhorter did not allow a safe hit. The box score and summary follow:

BABE RUTH SAYS:

I see by the papers that Commissioner Landis is receiving many complaints about the umpiring in the major leagues this season. That some of the American League umpires should be more efficient than others goes without saying.

Billy Evans is a few and far between. He is a good umpire. I am sure every member of Ban Johnson's staff should be as capable as Mr. Evans. The others are not far behind, however, and it is my peculiar notion that the umpiring in the American League this year is better, on the whole, than at any other time within the span of my major league experience.

Evans has been called the "perfect" umpire. I have no opinion of him as a umpire. He seldom makes a mistake in his judgment on strikes and balls. In his calling of plays on the bases is practically 100 per cent. perfect, and in his case, exceptional ability is coupled with a splendid tact and a temperance worthy of a diplomat. Unlike some umpires I could name, Evans will acknowledge a mistake when he makes one, but does it in such a way that it does not weaken his hold and isn't a situation of impasse the respect in which he is held by the players.

HENRY DIRECT LOSES RACE

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 21.—Defeat of Henry Direct, strong favorite in the Southern Hotel $5,000 stake for 2:11 pacers, featured today's grand circuit races. Abbie Dale, of the Cox Stable, was too much for the western pacer, which set a sizzling pace in the first heat going to the three quarters in 1:30 but being nosed out at the finish by Abbie Dale in 2:04, the day's fastest time.

The first three heats of the 2:15 trot produced as many winners. Finvarra winning the first, Elnque the second and Alta Quest, a second choice, taking the third and fourth.

The house review Futurity had only three starters. Tommy Murphy to a straight heat victory. Ophelia V., finishing second in each and John Harvester third.

Peck Direct, recently purchased at auction for $160 by Earl Clarke, of this city, more than made for his new owner the purchase money for he won the 2:14 pace from a field composed largely of horses which have been racing on half mile tracks.

Volstead Rushes To Aid Daugherty

Good Deal Like Comic Opera," Dry Apostle Calls Impeachment Move—Untermeyer Is Caustic.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 21.—Chairman Volstead (Rep., Minn.) of the House Judiciary Committee issued a broadside to-day in reply to the critics of the committee for postponing action on the Daugherty impeachment charges. He described the proceeding to date as "a good deal like comic opera."

This followed receipt of a telegram last evening by Representative Keller (Rep., Minn.) from Samuel Untermeyer of New York stating he might be unable to assist in presenting the case in December, or January, to which the hearing was postponed.

Mr. Volstead criticized the tactics of his colleague. Mr. Keller "is the only instance," he said, "that I have ever heard of in which a high official of the Government is impeached without some telling, not only Congress but the public, all about it."

"The charges are so general that no court would listen for a moment to any evidence in support of them. No one can tell what act or acts they refer to."

Mr. Untermeyer said parliamentary language would not permit him to characterize properly the action of the Volstead committee in postponing action after its grandiose demand for testimony last Saturday.

"It would be an insult to the intelligence of our people to believe they are so dull as not to be able to see that for purely partisan reasons the committee simply dared not permit a public hearing," he continued.

"I confess that in accepting appointment I was so childishly ingenious as to believe those grave questions would be considered independently on their merits without partisan or political bias. I made a like effort to secure investigation against the preceding Attorney General of my own party for acts they did not begin to reach the gravity of charges against the present Attorney General."

General and where necessity for action was not nearly so urgent." Mr. Untermeyer said Attorney General Daugherty should desire an investigation and he urged Mr. Keller to seek appointment of a Senatorial Committee that will undertake an immediate inquiry.

"The country cannot afford to have this scandalous situation continue indefinitely," he concluded.

IN THE POLICE COURT.

Cases against Charles Parker and Plez Womack, both colored on charges of violating the Mapp act, were continued until tomorrow morning. The accused are charged with selling two young white boys a small quantity of whiskey early this morning. The boys identified Parker as the man selling them the whiskey but were not certain about Womack, but Parker contends that he can produce two witnesses to prove diem had the cases were put off. Womack appeared in court this morning wearing a pair of large spectacles, and appearing in different style wearing a pair of white boys' minds as to whether he was the right party.

A disturbance below the depot last night, involving Thad Wilmouth and his wife, colored, was aired in the court this morning but was continued, owing to the absence of the man's wife, whom he said had scalded her foot and was unable to appear. The police last night received a call from that section, informing them of a big row. Patrolman S. M. Hefflinger answered the call but found very little amiss, the fight evidently being over. The negro stated this morning that he was merely having a little fun with his wife. He said some time ago she scalded her leg and he was teasing her about having it amputated and that she became angry. He denied striking her as charged.

Charges against half a dozen men for peddling without a license were dropped. It was proven that they were employed and paid salaries by men who possessed licenses to do such business.

Several cases of minor importance were continued to later dates.

The record shows that Oscar Cook and M. L. "Nappy" Shelton, arrested several days ago for violating the Mapp act, have submitted to fines of $10 and costs without going to trial.

Miss Byrd Turner, who was recently operated upon at the General Hospital, is reported as doing well.

Gretna Cleared Fully Following Lengthy Inquiry

Lang Rorer one of the men against whom a warrant was sworn out has since claimed that a political enemy brought about his arrest and that this man had caused the prohibition department and the detective to single him and members of his family out for attack.

Thompson and Dunn did not appear at the grand jury investigation and their story therefore has not been told. It is currently reported that some person met them at the station and told them that warrants were waiting to be served on them and this apparently had the effect of intimidating the two men who did not leave the train.

With the indictments returned however it is likely that they will be brought back into Virginia and tried at which time the remaining hidden chapter—the identity of those who hired them will be fully disclosed.

Ministers To Act On Billy Sunday Invite Tomorrow

Indications point to favorable action in which event the evangelist will be here one Monday night in the near future.

THE FLAPPER GROWS DEMURE

No longer dishing, but demure, the flapper dons long skirts, Puritan collars, long sleeves. Will she abandon rouge, rolled down stockings, bobbed hair and the other insignia of her emancipation? Of course she will! The new styles demand it. And they seem to do so. Here is her new fall silhouette, with its essential change. Watch for her. She'll begin to dot the streets in a few weeks and after that she'll grow more and more until her name is legion. There's one oase article to her creed. As well be out of the world as out of fashion.

Brave American Girl Rescued 150 Armenian Waifs In Smyrna

ATHENS, Sept. 21.—All accounts of the rescue work at Smyrna during its terrible experiences from fire, pillage and massacre are piling up evidences of the notable part played by Americans in those saving labors.

For instance, there is the story told by Miss Jean Christie, of Springfield, Mass., director of the American Y. W. C. A., in Smyrna. She is now in Athens as a refugee, and speaks of her own part in the tragedy with all modesty, yet by others it was declared that she had displayed remarkable bravery and resourcefulness.

With Miss Myrtle Nolan, also an American, Miss Christie conducted a school for children.

"When the fire started," she said, "refugees began streaming into the city, moaning, weeping and imploring for help. I thought of the 150 Armenian orphans in the houses and school nearby, and thought it best to bring them to the Y. W. C. A. When I got there, I found the building afire, and led them through the streets to another Y. W. C. A. The children screamed pitifully, fearing the Turkish soldiers, who were everywhere.

"Soldiers stopped us on the streets but I helped with them to let us proceed without harm, and they did so. The scene that night was terrible. Flames accompanied by resounding explosions, advanced steadily, consuming everything, including the Y. W. C. A., and we lost all.

Supreme Court Justice
Takes Stand to Answer
Charges Involving His Reputation—Nothing Objectionable in Gatherings,
He Says.

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—The Supreme Court here yesterday presented the spectacle of a Supreme Court Justice on the witness stand testifying to clear his own reputation. When the examining attorneys said "Judge," it was necessary to wait for the words which followed to determine whether it was a question addressed to Justice Louis W. Marcus of Buffalo, who was the witness, or a motion addressed to Justice William P. Burr, who was presiding.

The court attendants rendered the witness quasi-judicial courtesy. He wore no robes but when he entered and left they bustled over his overcoat and cane as if they were badges of office, and while he was on the witness stand they attentively tendered him the various conveniences of the courtroom.

It is not very gratifying to be mixed up in an affair of this kind," said Justice Marcus afterward, "but I am willing to stick by my friends."

His friends in this proceeding, as he explained on the witness stand, are L. Lawrence Weber, a theatrical producer, and Mr. Weber's divorced wife, who has married and is now Mrs. Edith Heller. On the preceding night, Justice Marcus was concerned with the control of four-year-old L. Lawrence Weber Jr., between his divorced parents.

Each side introduced into the child's environment with the opposing parents and one of the witnesses, Anna Cannon, a Negroess who had been discharged by Mr. Weber, described a "woman" and a woman whom she said she had served and worked for Mr. Weber at the Weber Apartments. She gave the name of Justice Marcus as a party to the gathering.

This was published last week and the court announced he would not appear and make his reply in the court proceedings. He had called his own court in Buffalo, however, on his first opportunity to testify was yesterday.

He sat with the witness chair upped and balancing nervously as he tried between questions the cheeks flushed showing in tight lines in his lean, austere face. He said that it was the second time he had ever been on the witness stand, although he has been a Justice of the Supreme Court since 1915.

He testified that he has known L. Lawrence Weber seven years and so well during the past four years that wherever he has come to New York temporarily he has made his home with Weber at the Wyoming apartments.

Nothing Wrong, He Says.
Between questions he bit his lips and surveyed the opposition counsel with eyes narrowed into an expression of resentment. He was addressed as "Judge," and he replied in a steady, self-possessed voice.

"How many times have you been at dinner there when there were ladies as guests?" he was asked.

"Four, five, six or seven."

"Did any one at any of these dinners act at all in a drunken or hilarious manner?"

"Not at all."

"Was there anything at all objectionable about those gatherings or those who attended?"

"Nothing whatsoever."

"Did you or any other gentleman enter a bedroom with a lady during one of those gatherings?"

"Certainly not."

The Justice took a deep breath and his face hardened.

Finally the attorney said: "That's all, Judge."

FINDS STOLEN SENDING SET
RECEIVING ON MOVING AUTO

CLEVELAND, Sept. 20.—One night in August the home of Daniel F. Murphy was burglarized and a large part of the equipment of his radio station stolen. Among the loot was a high-powered sending set.

Several days later radio operators in Cleveland found a new station with power to send out messages. The new station had no call number, was not licensed and could not be located.

Believing it was operated by the thief who robbed him, Murphy, an electrician, set out to find it. He installed a receiving set on an automobile and night after night toured the city, listening for the signal of the unknown operator. When the message grew faint he changed the direction of the car.

Finally repeated calling a particular car failed to show any point where the message could be heard more plainly than another.

Erick Kutz, 18, lived in the block. He had become the pride of the neighborhood with his new wireless.

Saloniki's Walls
To Be Rebuilt.

SALONIKI, Greece, Sept. 22.—Saloniki, a busy, crumbling and blackened wall has been one of the eyesores of this part of the world for five years, is at last to be rebuilt. A corporation has been formed with a capital of 10,000,000 francs for the reconstruction of those parts of the city which were destroyed in the great fire of 1917.

Half this sum has been subscribed by the National Bank of Greece, three and a half million by Jewish capitalists and the remainder by Saloniki Greeks.

Big Business
In Orange Peel

JACMEL, Haiti, Sept. 22.—Haiti is fast wresting from the island of Curacao, in the West Indies, the monopoly in the exportation of sour orange peel used for the flavoring of Curacao. Amer Picon and other liquors made in France, Holland and Denmark.

In July Jacmel exported 139,000 pounds of the dried peel valued at $42,000 to Hamburg, from which it is in turn shipped to the principal European markets. This amount is sixteen times greater than the total for any one month in the last nine months.

Sour orange trees grow here with practically no care, and the Jacmel district is especially prolific in the type held in such high repute in Europe. The price paid to the peasant averages about two and three cents a pound, and for each pound the peasant must pick and peel and drive into market 50 oranges. In Hamburg the selling price, f. o. b., is 22 cents a pound, and Jacmel is enjoying a boom in her rapidly-expanding industry.

Reports from Hamburg from a trial shipment made several months ago were to the effect that the Jacmel peel was superior to the Curacao peel. Jacmel's exportations of the peel to the United States, where it is used for flavoring extracts and medicinal preparations, also more than doubled last year. The year's exportation showed a considerable increase over the 75,696 pounds shipped in 1921.

Novel Tricks
In Drug Trade

LONDON, Sept. 22.—Scotland Yard is conducting an intensive campaign against West End drug traffickers, whose activities in the last year have greatly increased. Some of the methods used in delivering drugs to the purchaser are described in a recent report.

"Fourth lamp-post on the right," a trafficker whispers in the ear of a cocaine victim. He passes down the street, and with the aid of chewing gum fixes a little white packet on the fourth lamp-post's flower bed. He follows at a discreet distance and removes the packet.

Another trafficker drops rolled omnibus tickets on the pavement. He is followed by a string of clients who pick up the tickets, which of course contain cocaine.

Another throws an apparently empty match box into the gutter. A minute later a customer picks it up and extracts one or more packets of cocaine.

Another trafficker keeps the drug in the turned-up ends of his trousers. He advises his customers where he will walk, as he roges along he stops as if to fasten his belt. In reality he is placing a packet of cocaine on a doorstep, whence a customer picks it up.

INDICTMENT AGAINST WIDOW IS RETURNED

WINCHESTER, N.Y., Sept. 21.—(By the Associated Press)—An indictment charging Mrs. Nancy Catherine Renaker, widow of Leon Renaker, wealthy commission merchant with conspiracy in the murder of her husband was returned here today by the grand jury.

Indictments also were returned against Scoles, Hardman and J. Reese Fox, charging them with conspiracy.
